Ken Watts was mingling with some very distinguished company on October 25 - Lieutenant Governor Hilary Weston, Premier Mike Harris, MPP Chris Hodgson and Ontario Chief Justice Roy McMurtry, not to mention Gordie Tapp.

But then again, as a recipient of the Order of Ontario, the Minden resident is a very distinguished man himself.

Watts received the cherished award in recognition of the work he did in founding and running the Sears Drama Festival, which is now in its 54th season.

"You can be very proud of this achievement that is a testament to your many years of concentrated and dedicated efforts to provide the opportunity for participation in theatre productions," MPP Chris Hodgson told Watts during the ceremony at Queen's Park.

Getting down to details:

*Minden, Snowdon
 Lutterworth work
 on amalgamation*

MARTHA PERKINS

The devil is in the details, as a recent, almost four-hour amalgamation meeting between the three southwestern municipalities revealed.

Now that there is agreement in principle, the councillors of Snowdon, Lutterworth and Anson, Hindon and Minden have to agree on some of the finer points of merging three municipalities into one in time for the November 30 application deadline.

That isn't always easy.

"I'm feeling I'm being led through the nose," Lutterworth Deputy-reeve Lisa Mercer said as the October 27 meeting progressed. Later she said "there's a level of distrust here. Minden seems to be continually trying to protect its interests."

Such sentiments aside, much progress was made as facilitator (and county CAO) Les Shepherd led the three councils through the process.

Many of the decisions are administrative ones, dealing with how a municipality is run.

The following are brief reports of the items of more general, public interest.

Mike Bradley nominated for national football honour

CONGRATULATIONS TO MIKE BRADLEY, the tailback for the University of Waterloo's football team. The third-year student is one of four football players from across Canada who has been nominated as the CIAU's Most Valuable Player. Earlier in the season, Bradley was ranked number one in Canada for rushing; now he's third nation-wide but still tops in Ontario. Cheering him on are many fans and supporters in the Highlands where Bradley grew up, setting all kinds of records during his years at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School. His parents are Jim and Janet Bradley of Koshlong Lake.

That tireless fundraiser, Bill Hartin, is once again selling CNIB calendars for $20, with every day draws made for cash prizes totalling $80,000. If you'd like to support the CNIB's programs for the blind, you can reach him at 457-1629.

We heard of a fun local website to visit: at www.bythelake.haliburton.on.ca, you can see all the young trick or treaters who knocked on the owner's door. Now there's a great trick....

A few weeks ago we had a story about Eldon Township's decision to get rid of its development charges as a way of luring more business to the Kirkfield area. Pat Martin, Dysart et al's planner, phoned to tell us that earlier this summer, Dysart also waived its development charges in the hopes it makes this area more attractive to potential developers and encourages growth.

Across the county, municipalities are supporting the Canadian Legion's Two-Minute Wave of Silence on the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month. Workplaces are also encouraged to participate in this special Remembrance Day time of contemplation. At the Haliburton Family Medical Centre, they're going to turn off the lights for the two minutes to give here, there & everywhere news and events worth noting everyone a chance to reflect on the sacrifices made by so many Canadians in times of war. It's a fitting tribute to them.

An easy way to help Stuart Baker Elementary School raise money is to save the UPC or bar codes from any Kellogg's product. Both grocery stores in Haliburton have offered to have boxes where the bar codes can be dropped off. The school will receive money from Kellogg's for each symbol that's collected. Meanwhile, the school is also raising money for playground equipment by selling t-shirts and sweatshirts for children and adults. Order forms are available at the school. One last note: if you'd like to help by volunteering your time, the primary school needs someone to clean up the butterfly garden before winter and people to answer the phone in the office during some lunch hours and on Friday afternoons. Please call the school at 457-1342 if you'd like to help.

Here are some noteworthy events taking part at the Dorset Recreation Centre: folk art classes, personalized fitness programs, yoga class, a visit from the Mobile Employment Resource Centre (Nov. 15 and 16, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.), and it's hoped, a babysitting course and outdoors club. To find out more about these and other events, please call 766-9968.

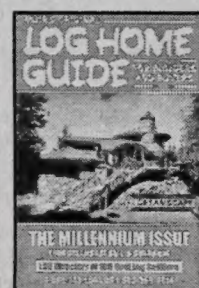

The Schizophrenia Society of Ontario is calling upon all young artists to submit their ideas for a poster which will be used in public awareness campaigns across the province. The theme is the Wizard of Hope, a bright, cheerful image which celebrates the good news of improved treatments for people with schizophrenia, resulting in a better quality of life. Entry forms have been mailed to all visual arts departments of Ontario schools, colleges and universities. Cash awards of $500, $300 and $200 will be awarded to the three best submissions. Entries should be postmarked by December 31, 1999. For more information call 1-800-449-6367 or e-mail sso@web.net.

Jazz fans won't want to miss an opportunity to enjoy the music of Rob McConnell and the Boss Brass close to home. Northern Timberhouse named in 100 log building companies in North America Northern Timberhouse of Minden has been named to Log Home Guide magazine's top 100 log home building companies in North America.

"We chose Northern Timberhouse because we believe they are one of the best companies that we know of, given the 20-plus years we have been actively associated with the log home industry," says Doris Muir, editor and founder of Log Home Guide.

Log Home Guide's top 100 were chosen based on three categories: 1. first-hand, personal knowledge, visits to the log yards, models, corporate headquarters, as well as going on tours of the company mill and/or visits to one or more of their log structures;

2. information provided by customers that have log structures, including homes, built by the builder, and;

3. recommendations of peers in the log home industry. The information obtained from the peers has been actively sought after over a period of years.

The editor-in-chief/editor, husband/wife team of Allan and Doris Muir have travelled over 20,000 miles over the last year to talk with the log home builders and manufacturers. They believe these builders, such as Northern Timberhouse, which was recently named Business of the Year by the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce, are successful because of their constant dedication and commitment to excellence and quality in everything they do.

Student participation in upcoming UNICEF vote is criticized

MARTHA PERKINS

Editor

An upcoming event at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School sponsored by Elections Canada and UNICEF would take students down a dangerous path, a ratepayer told the Trillium Lakeland District School Board at a recent meeting in Minden.

On November 19, HHSS is one of the schools participating in a nationwide "election" to celebrate the 10th anniversary of the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child.

Students from Grades 7 to OAC will be able to vote for which of nine rights included in the convention they think is the most important: education, family, food and shelter, health, name and nationality, non-discrimination, culture, protection from harm, rest and play, and sharing opinions.

The convention has been ratified by every country in the world except two - the United States and Somalia.

"Unfortunately, as students they will not be able to comprehend the purpose of their decision, that (the document) is dangerous to use," Doug Hindson told the board. "They're voting on a document a child could not understand... To proceed without parental consent, there's no telling of the fall-out."

Hindson said many of the countries which are supporting the election, including Bosnia, South Africa and Mozambique, are either Marxist or totalitarian states. He also argued that Elections Canada did not have the legal right to organize such an event.

The student election initiative, and the convention it's based on, promote a "political rights agenda (that's) antithetical to our system of government... It's a heightened attack against the family," Hindson said.

Student trustee Kim Varty, who heads the "group of seven" representatives from the seven high schools in the district, said the group endorsed the November 19 event as a way of building unity between all the schools. "It's something we could do together..."

"We saw the (election) as a way to effect the things (we want) in our schools and community and to get students to think about the bigger picture."

It will also give students a taste of what elections are like, said Evelyn Brown, the director of education, adding that few students have seen a ballot or know how an election works.

"It's not mandatory participation," she said and the schools picked up on the initiative to teach students that taking part in exercising their franchise "is an important thing to do."

The election fits in with the civics component of the curriculum.

The results will be available on a website so that local high schools can compare their priorities to those of students across the country.

Trustee Rick Johnson said that instead of being a political act, the election was "more like an opinion poll."

The trustees did not vote on whether to tell schools not to hold the event.

• Sarsh O'Connell applied for permission to paint the garbage cans on Main Street and council decided they needed more

• The Kinsmen Club can use the Minden fairgrounds for their ice racing track subject to suitable water system arrangements.

• November 5-11 was declared Veterans Week.

Amalgamation means 'huge' workload councillors from all three municipalities – will begin making decisions about the amalgamated municipality once the Minister of Municipal Affairs gives his approval of the overall county plan. This should be before the end of the year since it is primarily a rubber-stamp approval; the Minister has no authority to make changes.

This team has a long list of things it "may" do, include making purchases and appointing staff to various positions. The list was borrowed from another municipality which has gone through the process. Although there was much debate about particular items, such as whether the team can put a cap of $10,000 on discretionary spending above the existing municipalities' budgets, the list essentially passed in its entirety since it was based on things the team "may" do, not have to do.

Changes

Several times throughout the meeting, concerns were raised as to whether any decisions made by the transition team would tie the hands of the amalgamated council. Most councillors felt that any council's decisions could be seen to restrict its future politicians, but that those politicians, in turn, had the right to make changes once they were in power. It was felt it was better to move ahead than to leave too many decisions for the new council, which will have enough to get used to.

As well, Lutterworth's Mike Wohlruth said "whether the seven councillors (for the new municipality) are new, we will have experienced staff" to provide stability.

Driver's licences

Lutterworth Reeve Jim McMahon said many of the people who come into his store say the amalgamation will be too costly. For instance, he said the information on driver's licences will have to be changed to whatever the new name for the amalgamated municipality will be.

McMahon was told not to worry. The address on licences is a person's geographical township. That name – Lutterworth Township, for instance – won't change no matter what the new municipality is called.

Reserve funds

If a municipality's reserve has a specific name – Minden arena, for instance – then it will be spent for that specific purpose.

Any reserves with general titles (ones common to all) will be put into one pot. That way, for example, Snowdon's reserve for Snowdon Park will only be spent on the park, but its road reserves will go towards whichever roads projects in the new municipality have priority.

There was discussion on whether the spending of reserves before the next election should be capped.

Official Plan

Minden is the only one of the three existing municipalities to have an Official Plan. There is no provincial amalgamation funding available to pay for the work that would go into adding Lutterworth and Snowdon to the plan. Snowdon has never been able to afford an Official Plan because it would require expensive flood plain mapping.

Unions

Minden's staff recently unionized, although a first contract has not yet been signed. The other two municipalities aren't unionized. It was felt that if the transition team tried to avoid the union issue, the provincial labour board would step in and make all the decisions. Better that the decisions were made locally, it was decided.

If the amalgamation of staff results in the fact that 40% of staff members aren't unionized, staff would have to vote on whether to retain union certification.

"These will be thorny issues," Shepherd cautioned.

Voting

Since Anson, Hindon and Minden brings more than half of the assets and ratepayers into the amalgamation, its council wants to make sure two municipalities can gang up on the third.

Minden proposed that any vote require support from 75% of councillors on the transition team. The proposal was later refined to include that a quorum must include at least three councillors from each municipality.

"It gives more fairness to the system," said Minden Reeve Jeanne Anthon, who broached the subject.

"It protects each municipality (because) it takes more than just two townships to pass something," said Minden Councillor Daryl Moore after Snowdon Reeve Ross Rigney said the proposal is a step away from assuming all three municipalities are equal.

"Regardless of how many piggy banks you have in your piggy bank, we're all equal," said Mercer, who then made her comment about the atmosphere of distrust.

"We don't want to give that impression," Anthon said. "We very much trust the current councils; we're talking about the unknowns."

The name

Ballots will be sent in tax bills asking ratepayers to suggest a new name. Until then, the councils accepted that the new municipality would include all existing townships in alphabetical order: Anson, Hindon, Lutterworth, Minden and Snowdon.

"We might be looking for alms," said Anthon, making a play on the short form, AHLMS.

The future

Given the time it's taken to reach this point, and the time it will take to get the new municipality up and running, councillors agreed with Mercer's comment that "it's a scary amount of work."

"There are a lot of meetings here. This is a very big commitment," Rigney said.

PROCLAMATION

"2 MINUTE WAVE OF SILENCE"

Whereas November 11, 1999 will be the last Remembrance Day of the 20th Century, the most violent century of the passing Millennium; and

Whereas all Canadians owe a debt to the 116,000 brave men and women who gave their lives during this century to defend our freedom and way of life; and

Whereas to help secure peace for future generations, we must always remember the sacrifices, especially the young people who are always the first called in times of strife; and

Whereas the Royal Canadian Legion is asking all Canadians to observe a two minute silence at 11:00am on 11 November, and that this silence will begin in Newfoundland, and sweep across the country like a wave as the clock strikes 11:00 in each time zone;

Therefore be it resolved that we, Dysart Council, proclaim our support for the "2 Minute Wave of Silence", and further pledge that we will participate in a two minute silence at 11:00am local time on November 11, 1999 and encourage citizens of Dysart et al to participate in the "2 Minute Wave of Silence" wherever safety and practicality permit.

many thousands of students have been afforded opportunities that otherwise would have been unavailable to them. I am certain that the community will continue to benefit for years to come from the hard work and dedication that you have so freely given."

"It's quite an honour," Watts says, back at home in his quiet corner of the Highlands north of Minden, resting after all the excitement of the black tie ceremony and dinner. "Gosh, I'd never had my picture taken so many times since I was a model."

"It was wonderful."

"It was just a wonderful ceremony, to see the diversity of people being honoured," says Snowdon resident Ross Rigney, a former Sears vice-president who with his wife Lois, was one of Watts' five guests. (The others were festival director Wayne Fairhead, actress Barb Wheeland and adjudicator Myra Friedlander.)

"Mike Harris spoke nicely about what a difference the recipients have made" in Ontario's quality of life, Rigney says.

Watching his long-time friend and co-worker receive the Order of Ontario was very gratifying for Rigney. "I've seen the effort and commitment Ken's had to theatre," he says, adding that it's estimated that 50% of all people involved in Canadian theatre are alumni of the annual high school drama festival.

"It's been Ken's undying commitment" to the Sears Drama Festival which has made is such an important learning experience for so many people, Rigney says.

The festival starts at a local level before hosting regional and then a provincial competitions. Each performance is adjudicated professionally so the student actors and backstage workers can improve their craft and get the support they need to continue on.

County council and health board disagree over governance of ambulances

MARTHA PERKINS

Editor

County council is upset that the Haliburton Highlands Health Services board is publicly opposing its stance on who should run the ambulance service, but that's okay because the HHHS board is upset that county council is disagreeing with its preference.

At October 27's county council meeting, politicians expressed dismay that the HHHS chairman, David Coulson, had written a letter disagreeing with the county's decision to have a Haliburton County ambulance service rather than join forces with neighbouring jurisdictions.

At October 28's HHHS board meeting, Dr. Aoife Conway said the county was losing out on an opportunity to improve the service by linking with others and couldn't county council be asked to change its mind?

Not surprising, both the county council and the board think it's time to get together to discuss the issue.

"Let's sort it out so we don't ing he said the board "seems to have a feeling they can offer the service better than we can and I don't think they can."

At Thursday's board meeting Tallman said "Haliburton County would like to control its own destiny" and that the decision was made after a year and a half of meetings with representatives from potential partners as well as MPP Chris Hodgson.

When Tallman was asked at the board meeting whether the county's decision would isolate us, Tallman said "I don't think so."

His fellow county councillors are worried that the public disagreement would see the decision being made by the Ministry of Health.

"This thing could be pulled out from under our feet and we'd have nothing," said Lutterworth Reeve Jim McMahon.

"Let's sort it out so we don't have this diverse opinion between two groups in the same county" have this diverse opinion between two groups in the same county," said Snowdon Reeve Ross Rigney on the Wednesday.

"Let's register our concern and disappointment," said Dr. Conway on the Thursday. "I don't think they've made the right decision."

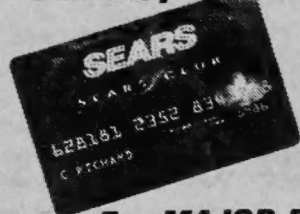

Monmouth Reeve Keith Tallman, who's the county's representative on the health board, was stuck in the middle.

Every deer has its November

THIS WEEK, with the story about some students' excursion to a hunt camp, The Echo breaks its rather nonsensical rule against printing photographs of dead deer. Our policy has been that we'll print photos from hunt camps, complete with dead deer hanging upside down, from several decades ago but we won't print modern-day photos of the same scene. Old dead deer represent a traditional way of life in the Highlands. Recently dead deer represent a pursuit that few of us here practise, let alone understand or fully condone.

It's a rule that approached logically, doesn't make sense. And it is hypocritical, like most meat-eaters' attitudes towards this autumn ritual. But we break it this week, knowing we might get letters of disgust, because how else do you truthfully illustrate a tour of a hunt camp without pictures of dead deer?

martha perkins

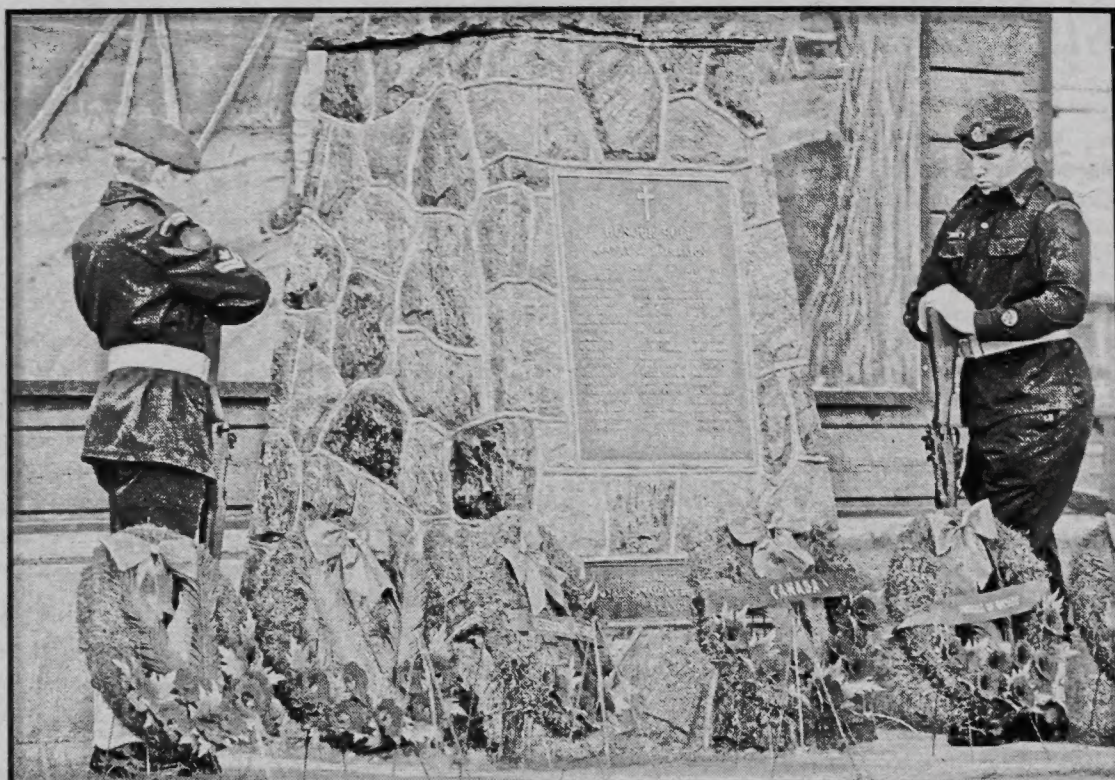

As the 20th Century ends, most of us are far removed from all the gory details of what goes into getting dinner from the farm to the table. When we were an agrarian society, either we saw animals being slaughtered on the farm or watched them being loaded on the train to be taken to market. We knew those cute little pigs and chickens were tomorrow's bacon and roast. Today, we distance ourselves from the actual act of killing. We get others to do it for us, sight unseen, and then wrap the results neatly in sanitized packages. No personal responsibility for the killing, no guilt for the eating.

When it comes to the topic of hunting, let it be said: moose meat makes a great stew. Venison has become a gourmet meal. And up until the 50s and 60s, without hunting season, many families would have had no meat to eat throughout the winter. Hunting truly was a necessity, and as such, became a valued way of life.

Most hunters today tell you they still eat the meat; they don't kill for the sake of killing. Most could also afford to buy meat from the butcher's, but they still hunt because they enjoy it. However, for all their proud displays, they're a bit defensive about it all since they know they are now in the minority. Here in the Highlands, by and large hunting is condoned, if not exactly liked, but there are those, especially in urban areas, who would like to see an end to it all.

Over the past few years, it seems a compromise has been reached. Gone are the days when hunters would walk along the side of the road, gun propped across their shoulder. Today, the rules are much stricter and most hunters appear to congregate in camps, sight unseen until dusk falls and they return to town in their trucks, perhaps a deer or moose slung across their trailer. Hunt camps impose rules, partly because members believe in them, and partly because they know that any bad behaviour will be used as ammunition in the non-hunters' fight to wipe out this treasured way of life.

Compromise is the true time-honoured tradition – a tradition well worth taking with us into the future. And all of us should keep in mind the words of the Frost Centre's Barrie Martin: the biggest threat to deer is not hunters with guns, but families with hammers, nails and a pile of two by fours.

Re: Eddie Lehman's letter regarding the proposed Haliburton by-pass.

I am feeling a little ambivalent about the by-pass itself, and am waiting to see exactly where it would be, and zoning restrictions, etc, before I decide whether I am in favour or not, but there are other matters in his letter I would like to address.

People should remember that we are a small town, things are not "hustle and bustle" and get everywhere in a hurry. I didn't find it incredibly difficult to cope with this summer's traffic in comparison to downtown Toronto's bumper to bumper traffic.

The only time this past summer that I can recall seeing not one available parking spot was during Midnight Madness. Great for business! You may not get a parking spot right at the door of the shop you are going to, but there are several town parking lots on both ends of town (and free!) The distance necessary to walk to the store in question is surely not that far, considering that the main street is smaller than one would walk from end to end of any mall in a large town.

The grocery store owners could be innovative and help out by offering a free delivery service... how about a staff member with golf cart to take both you and your groceries to a distant parking lot? Or how about the BIA and their welcome hostess providing such a service?

As for revitalizing the town with new stores (Canadian Tire, Tim Hortons, Pizza Hut, Harveys) there are already seven permanent restaurants on the main street, plus two summer operations. The lumber stores or hardware store and plumbing specialty shops stock virtually everything you could want, and they will match prices in competitor's flyers.

There is always empty storefront space somewhere on the main street; it's not necessarily that Haliburton needs more space to revitalize the town, but more interesting and different types of stores that will attract shoppers.

I, like many others, moved to Haliburton to get away from the noise, traffic and people congestion of a large centre, and would like to think that Haliburton could "become a vibrant, exciting, major hub of activity in Haliburton County" without detracting from the fact tourists come here for the beauty and peace and quiet.

By-pass would ease troubles near campus

To the Editor:

I was so glad to see Mr. Lehman's positive response to the by-pass.

I have a different side to add to the proposal. Living on Highway 118 just before the village, my traffic issue is totally different from the store owners' debates. It's amazing how quickly people drive by this dangerous area, and the trucks have quite a time with the corner by the Sir Sandford Fleming College's campus. Every now and then you hear the loud drone of brakes, when they all of a sudden have to slow down to make that hazardous bend.

I know the hill near the college is eroding. Due to the growth of traffic to our area, this will someday cause a huge problem! The road had a severe wash out in two places during the spring of 1998 that had to be repaired. I'm convinced that a by-pass would definitely help out this future issue.

Lest we forget

NOVEMBER 11, REMEMBRANCE DAY. "Lest We Forget." What does that phrase mean? To remember those who died in war for us is the common interpretation, but the word "lest" means far more than just remember.

"For fear that" is one definition; however the word also implies something to be prevented, guarded against. It is used in phrases indicating apprehension or danger according to that authority of the English Language, THE OXFORD DICTIONARY.

In today's world where only a few remain who have personally been touched by the grief of loved ones lost in wars, where our Canadian world has known little in its entire history of invasion, where for more than half a century this country has been essentially at peace, it is hard to seriously fear the horrors of living through a war. Yet if we forget the human cost of war we will be in danger of causing war.

Lest we forget the horrors of war, we must remember those causes and following generations must learn about them. We can bundle the common causes up into the vague terms of intrusive greed, envy, and craving for power. We can then proceed to convince ourselves that actions resulting from such collective desires on a large scale do not interfere with our personal lifestyle. If we do that as individuals within a society we are in danger of losing those very freedoms that are synonymous with our democracy.

marion hare

We must never forget that Germany was a democratic society when in the early 1930s the Nazis (Nationalist Socialist German Workingmen's Party) came to power. The Nazis were legally voted into power by good, caring, moral Germans living in a country depleted by war and devastated by depression. Too many members of that society, living in desperate circumstances, suspended their moral standards and voted for the party (Nazis) that promised them political stability and economic well-being.

The other obnoxious elements of the Nazi platform, openly visible, such as the belief in ethnic purity and subjugation of other nations, as well as their means of achieving dominance through intimidation and violence, were ignored because their promises of a better life were so appealing. Even Hitler's rise to the Chancellorship of Germany was technically legal. The resulting regime finally had to be opposed with force because the Nazi agenda called for depriving others of their freedoms. Thus World War II.

It is so easy to say that such could not happen here. True, specific situations may not mirror that of Germany in the 1930s, but the suspension of moral beliefs for personal gain, the tendency to treat other groups as lesser because they are different, the willingness to unquestioningly believe the rosy promises of our politicians, these characteristics are present in all of us at some time or other. Perhaps that is the dark side of human nature.

The problem of a modern, moral society losing its way arises when the circumstances are such that a majority can be convinced to suspend their better instincts in order to gain some personal advantage. In these times when our latest two to three generations know of war only as something in the past that their elders speak of, when the adventures of war are celebrated in our books and on our screens, we are in danger. One of the causes of the Great War, 1914-1918, frequently cited by historians, is the fact that the reality of war was unknown to that generation of leaders and so each selfishly dickered and bickered until finally the opposing groups (countries) manoeuvred themselves into war.

Therefore on Remembrance Day, November 11, we should have a moment of silence at 11 a.m. across our land so that we remember, "Lest we forget."

THIS WEEK'S Pic of the Past is in honour of Remembrance Day, November 11. On the right is Roy Hilton Hadley, who was born in Gooderham in 1883, the youngest son of Solomon Orser Hadley. Lunch-time supervision needed

To the Editor:

It is with great concern for the children in our junior elementary schools that I am writing this letter.

Recently, my six-year-old son invited me to have lunch with him in his Grade 2/3 class. Three things happened during that time that have launched me on a crusade of increased awareness and investigation into our educational system. I urge all parents, grandparents, caregivers, guardians etc. to do the same in the coming days.

During the in-class eating time, I noticed that there was no teacher present and one Educational Assistant had come in only very briefly. I questioned my son about it and he told me that the teacher had gone to lunch and that's why the girls (lunch monitors) were there. The lunch monitors were supervising some 25-30 students. At one point one of the girls also wrote a couple of names on the blackboard and I again asked what that was about. My son told me that students had received detentions for their behaviour during this time.

In addition, the time allotted to the children while I was in the class to eat their lunches was in the neighbourhood of 10 minutes. My son had managed to eat one half of a sandwich and part of a cracker/cheese "handi-snack".

How many parents have reprimanded their children for not eating their lunch? I know I have. The response has always been "Mommy I don't have time!", and unfortunately my instinct has been not to believe him - thinking that surely he must be playing around or talking too much. Parents - believe your children.

I have since attended the School Council meeting where the issue of lunch duration, lunch monitors, supervision and discipline were tabled on my behalf and the issue was met with as much shock and concern in the opinions of the other parents around the table. The Principal's input on the matter is that the teachers are entitled to 40 minutes of uninterrupted lunch break and there simply isn't enough money to hire lunch monitors. One concerned parent and council member commented that surely the JK/SK class was supervised, and the Principal's response was "not necessarily". (These children range in age from three to five and there are currently 25 students).

I have been in contact with Trillium Lakelands District

School board and it is an accepted policy. However, not all schools practise it and I was informed that my concerns were certainly valid should I wish to pursue them through the proper channels. I have begun to do so. I find it absolutely and totally unacceptable that our children are not supervised for any period of time while at school, and it is unfair to place young students (Grade 6) in such a position of responsibility to supervise and discipline other students especially for the reason that there isn't enough money to hire qualified adults. So you make kids do it? Teachers, please don't get me wrong - I very much respect the work that you do and I understand that this is a new program here this year. I wholeheartedly believe that you should eat too - but not at the expense of the safety of our children.

I have, in the past days, been in contact with many of the parents of our local school. None of them were aware of this program and all are equally appalled and concerned. I will be continuing in my effort to fight against this policy in our schools and I urge all parents to make themselves aware of their school program.

The Sawyer responds to critique

To the Editor:

Re: W. Sedgwick's opinions concerning Stanhope's sculpture "The Sawyer".

Thank you for an honest critique, however, as was stated in the caption below the photo, the work depicts the moment a lifelong "axe man" first handles this new cutting tool.

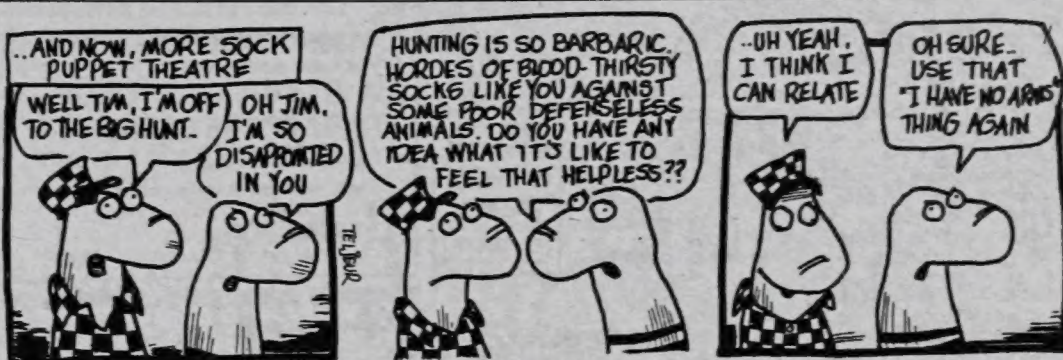

I wanted to remind people that the cross cut saw is a relatively new tool as well as representing a transitional moment in logging, thus reflecting the changes towards sustainable forestry and silviculture concerns in our own time.

As for the statement, "Good art should reflect life", I suggest we consider Michelangelo's David, completed 495 years ago. Clearly the figure is a Greco-Roman Apollo type, rather than that of an ancient Hebrew shepherd preparing for battle with the most feared man on the field.

Visit to a hunt camp a lesson in Highlands life

MARTHA PERKINS
Editor

A BUNCH OF DEAD DEER hanging from suspended hockey sticks may not be the gentlest way to teach young students about hunting, but it certainly grabs their attention.

Last Wednesday, two groups of students from the Orillia area were confronted with the reality of life in the Highlands for two weeks in November.

Gutted, their tongues lolling out and their front feet dangling in the air, several deer and a three-legged bear – all definitely dead – provided a rather stark lesson about a hunter's role in the ecological scheme of things.

After the initial "yucks", "euhhs," and even a few shouts of "picture time!", the students stood mesmerized by the scene, their faces a mix of fascinated curiosity and tempered disgust.

The group of men watching the students were cautious and somewhat guarded. Since only 10 percent of Ontario's population joins this annual pastime, they knew that for many of these students from East Oro Public School, the dead deer may be their first face-to-face encounter with hunting's desired results. They also knew that to those who don't hunt, there's usually nothing desirable about killing such an otherwise attractive animal.

But the members of the Halls Lake Rod and Gun Club weren't about to make any apologies.

"It's something that after you've done it, you just can't not do it," says club spokesman Doug Butts. His family has hunted in the Highlands since the 1830s, sons joining fathers who then have sons of their own. However, Butts also says that he picked up a gun this year for the first time in many years. His past few visits to the camp were more for the enjoyment of the way of life rather than to kill anything.

"I have had ethical dilemmas," he says of his hiatus from hunting. "At one point I sold all my firearms. I hadn't loaded a gun for five years."

So why did he join the hunt this year?

For ecological reasons, he says. There are so many deer that if their numbers aren't culled, there won't be enough for them to eat and many will starve to death. Back in the 70s, a massive die off almost decimated the Highlands' deer population, he says, and he doesn't want it to happen again.

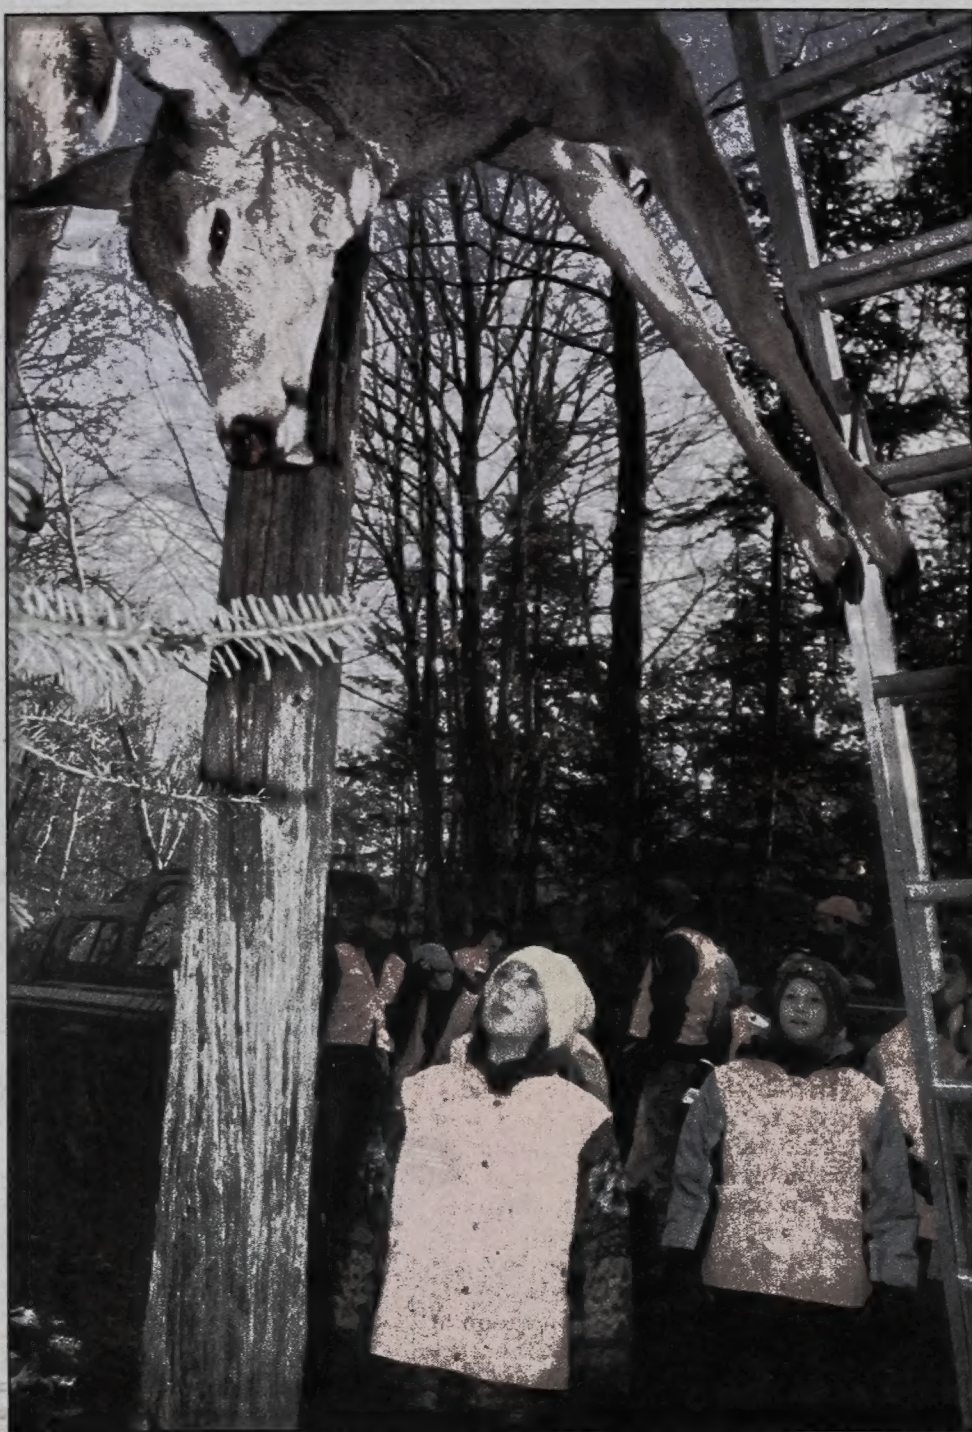

And why is he so willing to have these skeptical young visitors spend part of their outdoor education trip to the Frost Centre at his hunt camp?

"These kids are the future of conservation," he says matter-of-factly.

The sight of the deer might not be pretty, but it exposes the young students to a reality most people are shielded from today: all the meat we eat comes from what was once a very much alive animal. Deer are simply one species of animals we like to eat. Someone has to kill them first.

After inviting the kids into the cabin – a Reform Party sticker on the door, recycling bins just outside the kitchen, baying dogs, more panelling than most people have seen since the 70s, a rack of guns forming a neat line and walls covered with deer heads and tails – Butts answers one group of students' questions while another group goes over to another hunter to ask him about the guns.

The hunt club was first known

Time!"

Reaction to the sight of the dead deer (and three-legged bear) hanging from a tree was mixed, but all the students were transfixed at first.

as the Settlement Camp. It has about 23 members, not all of whom arrive at the same time. Some return in the summer for fishing or for other hunting seasons, pouring thousands of dollars into the local economy.

Strict rules are enforced. There's no tolerance for drunk and disorderly behaviour, reckless behaviour or careless use of a firearm. Do something wrong and you're kicked out.

"Today we're under the public magnifying glass," Butts says of one of the reasons for the rules. "You have one disaster and that's all the world wants to see."

Because of the rules, however, hunters have as much chance of being killed "on the job" as snooker players and bowlers, he says. (Barrie Martin, who led the Frost Centre's excursion, says the odds of getting killed are on par with getting struck by lightning.)

Asked about his worst hunting experience, Butts doesn't have to hesitate before he responds "1968. We had a big fog that set in for three days. It was a year most people should have stayed at home. Two individuals (in Haliburton County) actually got shot. It was a lesson learned and never forgotten."

Young hunters are never allowed to walk in the forest alone until they are at least 15. "Until we're confident they're capable of doing what they're supposed to, they're not allowed to hunt."

There are good hunters and bad hunters, and good hunters have no patience for the bad ones. To Butts, that includes a certain type of bear hunter. "Standing in a tree over a pile of garbage (waiting for the bear) is not hunting, it's ambushing. I don't know how anyone could do that."

Most of the hunters he knows are involved in conservation activities. One member of the club feeds 38 deer and two moose. Hunters see themselves as environmental stewards.

What about the people who wonder why the hunters simply don't spend a couple of weeks in the bush with a camera? Some do, one hunter replies. Butts says that killing deer is a necessary way of controlling their numbers to prevent starvation.

"We're a management tool"

"It's not to kill the animal," Butts says of hunting's appeal. "We're a management tool. You can feel personally guilty but you're doing a necessary thing."

In his discussions with the students, Martin says that the destruction of the deer's habitat is a much bigger threat to the deer's survival than hunting. As more land gets turned over to development, less food is available to sustain the deer populations. There are far more controls on hunting than habitat destruction since the Ministry of Natural Resources limits the number of hunting permits issued each year.

The students' response to this rather unusual field trip is mixed. Earlier, in one of the Frost Centre's classrooms, Martin had asked them to stand on one side of the room if they were against hunting, the other side if they were in favour of it, and the rest to stand in the middle if they condoned it but didn't really like it. Four of the group – three girls and an adult female chaperone – went to the "anti" side. An equal number stand on the "for" side, with the rest of the class in the middle. (With the other half of the class earlier that day, the bulk had stood in the middle.)

In the parking lot of the hunt camp, after they had taken one last look at the deer, they were asked to repeat the exercise. There's little movement. One girl from the anti side goes to the middle, and some of the middle and "for" side change places.

Manda says she will always be against hunting because she's a vegetarian. Jayne says "it's yucky and I just don't like killing anything." Joanne says she's not convinced with the hunters' justification that they are protecting the environment.

On the other side, Nicki, an 11-year-old girl who wants to take the hunter apprenticeship course with her father, says that if any man tries to act macho by saying he hunts, she wants to be able to reply, "oh yea, well I can, too."

"I want to try new things and see what it's like," Nicki says. "I want to be another female role model."

In the middle, Noah searches for the right words to describe what he feels about hunters then and now. "I used to think they were...."

"Lacking in intelligence," one of his friends suggests.

"Grubby," Noah says, finishing his sentence. "My mom said hunters were gun obsessed and now I know they're not."

Bantam A Huskies battle to the B final of local tournament

by WADE MCINNIS

This past weekend the Huskie Bantam 'A's held their home tournament with teams coming from Beaverton, Sutton, Markham, Nobleton-King City, Essa and two from Ennismore.

With Ben Carpenter and Joel Johnson on the D.L., Justin Walker, Garrett Pockett, Phil Greer and Adam Tomlinson in a high school football playoff game in Peterborough and the Bantam "B"s playing out of town, the Huskies called up PeeWees Jeremy Moynes and Ross Gerry, to help out. Thankfully Darren Kirkpatrick returned to the team just in time and looked like he hadn't lost a step. (What broken ankle?)

In Haliburton's first contest, the Blue and White routed the Ennismore #2 team 8-0.

At 1:30 the Huskies got a crack at the Ennismore Rep Team and man it was a nail-biter. After three periods of hockey the game was knotted at one thanks to some awesome goal tending by Alex Frybort and Jeremy Moynes. A questionable penalty in the last minute of the third put the Huskies down a man going into overtime and the Eagles capitalized scoring 17 seconds into the O.T. frame. The Huskies had no reason to hang their heads as they put up a valiant effort in the most exciting game of the day as the Eagles went on to win the "A" championship over the Noble-King team 2-1 in Regulation time.

The Huskies lost in the "B" championship game to the Essa

Eagles 4-2. Fatigue was a major factor.

The Bantam "A"s would like to thank Ross and Jeremy for helping out. Tournament point getters for the Huskies were Jeremy Miscio with five goals and two assists; Kevin Walker with two goals and three assists; Matt Gerry with two goals and one assist; Alex Ambridge and Garrett Pockett with single goals; and Shawn MacInnes and Darren Kirkpatrick with one helper each.

The Huskie Bantam "A"s would like to thank their sponsors Trillium Sheet Metal, Haliburton, Tim-Br Mart and Don Finn. They also would like to thank the arena staff, snack-bar people, the time and gate keepers, the referees and most of all the parents who helped make this tournament a success. Thank you!!

A GOOD WAY TO START THE DAY:

On Saturday morning, the Husky Bantams welcomed a team from Ennismore to the Huskies' all-day tournament at the Dysart arena. But the welcome didn't extend to allowing the Ennismore team a single goal. Game one of the day was a clean sweep for the hosts, who won 8-0.

Atom B Huskies feel the teeth of Cougar's shooters as they battle to a 5-1 loss

by Karen Morrison

The Atom B Huskies hosted the Bobcaygeon Cougars on Nov. 7.

As soon as the Huskies set their feet on the ice you could see the determination in their eyes. They finished their drills, the ref blew his whistle, they were ready to play.

The puck dropped, the first period was underway. The Huskies started to realize the Cougars were equally determined after they scored four minutes into the period. It wasn't even 30 seconds later that Jake Palmer, "The Big-D" and Andrew Cooper came flying up the ice. Evening up the score was "The Big-D" (Dallyn Smith) assisted by Jake Palmer.

The Cougars scored two more goals making the score 3-1 at the end of the first.

Going into the second the Huskie goalie, J.D. Crowe, wouldn't let the Cougars score with the help of his awesome defensemen, Ryan Scheffee, Bradford Burke, J.J. Jowett and Daniel Sisson.

Despite the great effort, put forth by Max Ambridge, Daniel Paul and Caleb Campbell, to set up and score, the Cougars' defence kept shutting the boys down. The score was 3-1 going into the third period when again the Cougars scored two more goals. The buzzer sounded ending the game 5-1 Cougars.

Good game, Huskies, keep up the hard work.

The Huskies will host Beaverton on Nov. 14 at 5:15 in Haliburton.

Playing for the fun of it:

A combined Junior and Senior field hockey squad at Haliburton high school brought the season to a close on Sunday as they played an exhibition match against a visiting team from Bancroft. The local girls dominated on the field and on the scoreboard. Above, Kim Varty (in white) races an opponent to the ball.

Novice C's face strong opponents

by Sherrill Sherwood

The Novice C's played three games in 28 hours this past weekend. Their first "away" game was a close one on Saturday against the Omeme B team. Both team's goalies kept the score low with numerous chances for either side. The game was scoreless until Omeme slid one in with 1:35 left in the third period, ending it 1-0 Omeme.

Sunday afternoon saw Ops in Haliburton. The Huskies dominated in the first period but the Ops goalie and defense were hard to break through. Craig Mulholland scored a pretty goal on a stupendous break-away in the second period, assisted by Kevin Cooper and Adam Van Nood. Luke Watson flipped the puck in front of the net to Ryan Sherwood, who slid it past the goalie to put the Huskies in the lead at 2-0.

Luke Watson was robbed of goals twice in the third period by the Ops goalie. Bronson Cook's precise pass to Craig Mulholland in front of the Ops net was amazingly stopped again. Craig Mulholland saved a rebound shot and Kevin Cooper materialized out of nowhere twice to shoot the puck out of the Huskies' zone, helping towards Curtis Nichol's well deserved first shut out of the season. Huskies won 2-0.

Cannington's "big Bee" team stung hard in their home town on Sunday night. The striped wonders played an aggressive game against the C's road weary crew. Riley Sisson played an effective defensive move in front of the Huskies net, to stymie the Cannington offense.

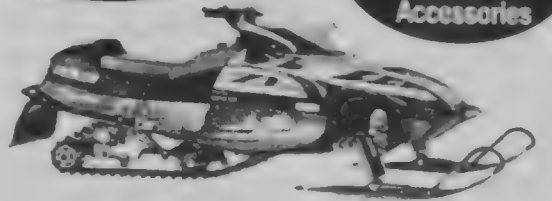

Huskie forwards couldn't get past the large, talented Cannington goalie. Craig Cooper swept the puck away repeatedly from the swarming opponents. Despite uncountable splendid saves by Curtis Nichol, Cannington won 6-0.

Brett Yavis said after the weekend that he likes to travel out of town and play lots of games. When asked which one he liked best, he replied "I liked the one we played on Sunday against Ops."

Novice A's gear up for big tourney

by Andrea Donaldson

On Sunday the Husky Novice As travelled to Milbrook for a close match. They were anxious to see how the "A"s would fare with this team, as Milbrook will be in the first round of playoffs.

Nathan Woodcock was back in full form, playing excellently between the pipes, after being off sick for a week or so. Lane Schmidt could not play, but was at the game to cheer his team on just the same.

The game was back to back - the "A"s would score and then Milbrook would score.

Mitch Vasey was outstanding, earning a well-deserved hattrick. Chase Thurston played great on wing, scoring a beauty, with a super pass from Andi "digger" Donaldson.

Steve Misco played awesomely on defense, even making a rush or two, with a couple of scoring chances. Julian and Matt worked hard trying to clear the puck out of our zone.

Jessee Tallman, Rob Lowes and Mac Trueman tried hard to set up some passing plays. Final score was 5-4 for Milbrook. Don't worry - we have one more chance to play these guys before play-offs.

There's a big tournament for the "A"s this weekend at Haliburton; starting Friday night at 7 p.m. with the "A"s playing Bancroft. Come out and support the "A"s and see some great hockey.

• Resident anglers and hunters who bought a three-year fishing licence and/or small game hunting licence which does not expire until December 31, 2000 or December 31, 2001, will not pay the new fees until these licences come up for renewal.

The new resident angling and hunting fees for the year 2000 (including GST and issuing fees) are;

Comeback Novice C's defeat Sunderland

by Robert St Pierre

Morale was high on Sunday as the Huskies had a rematch with Sunderland. The Huskies were "hot", with the likes of Daniel Sisson, Mark Perecko and Jesse Luke Frybort on defense. The way these boys scrambled to keep the puck away from their goalie, combined with outstanding goal tending by Kyle Steele was amazing. Sunderland tried their best, but it just wasn't good enough this time around. A power house goal late in the first period by Cole Scheffee assisted by Jesse Luke Frybort got the game on track. Sunderland scored early in the second period, but the Huskies came back in the third when Nigel St Pierre scored, assisted by Daniel Sisson and Cole Scheffee.

Again half way through the third period Daniel Sisson set up Nigel St Pierre for his second goal of the game. The Huskies won it 3-1.

The Huskies next game is on the road to Bobcaygeon, at 7:00 pm, Fri., Nov. 12. At this time the Huskies would like to thank the sponsors of the Novice B Team, and they are Pizza Den and Remax Realty. Hats off to you.

Eastern amalgamation progresses

Special to The Echo

The restructuring committee for the proposed United Townships of Bicroft, Cardiff, Glamorgan and Monmouth (BCGM) reconvened November 2 to continue the process of completing their portion of the County of Haliburton restructuring proposal. The proposal must be submitted to the Minister of Municipal Affairs by November 30.

In a show of confidence in their ability to work together without a facilitator, the committee unanimously resolved "to move forward independently as a group without the benefit of further assistance from [facilitator/consultant] Mr. Barber."

Chair Elva Bates of Glamorgan directed the discussion towards the formation of a BCGM transition board, which would help smooth the merging of four independent townships into one cohesive unit. This board, she noted, would be a corporate body, with significant authority, and the criteria for its operation should be given careful thought.

There was considerable discussion about the problem of having the majority of each existing council attend each meeting of the board, particularly in the face of unpredictable winter weather. The suggestion was raised that the problem be taken back to the individual township councils for discussion and a vote. However, Bates reminded members that time restrictions would not allow this.

In the end, the committee agreed to follow the Snowdon, Lutterworth, Anson, Hindon and Minden model, which requires at least three members of each council in attendance to achieve a quorum (the minimum number required to make an official decision). Seventy-five per cent of the attending votes will be required to carry any decision.

The committee also agreed to follow the SLAHM model in adopting specific powers for the board. This board, which will operate much like a large council, will, among other things, adopt a transition plan and budget on behalf of each of the townships involved, deal with personnel matters related to the transition period and set up the books for the new amalgamated townships.

In a follow-up to a previous concern about the possible freezing of currently undesignated municipal funds prior to amalgamation, Monmouth Clerk/Treasurer Sharon Stoughton noted that according to a clarification from a provincial advisor, the funds were not to be frozen, although the transition board could adopt the power to review and approve any financial transactions of the former municipalities that exceeded a designated sum.

Providing a hint of some of the more difficult decisions to come, Bates suggested that a representative of the Ministry of Environment be invited to the next meeting to provide input on waste management options within BCGM.

Bates, who is the reeve of Glamorgan, and warden of the county, noted that Glamorgan is currently facing something of a waste disposal crisis. The Glamorgan landfill site is only expected to remain operational until 2001, and "expansion is not an option." With the amalgamation, she noted, Glamorgan's garbage problems will become everyone's problem.

"Just where is Glamorgan's garbage going to go," she asked, pointing out that if the Glamorgan site were used as a transition point, and the garbage trucked to other dumps, these other dumps would probably then be exceeding the capacity for which they were licensed.

On the issue of public information, Bicroft Reeve Bill Howe suggested that the proposal be released to the public once it had been submitted to the province in November.

A mail-out was proposed, in order to reach seasonal as well as permanent residents. Cardiff Councillor Suzanne Partridge noted that, if left uninformed, cottagers might well feel excluded because the process was begun in the fall after most had left and is due to be completed in the spring, before they return. Reeve Howe also suggested that public meetings be organized at a reasonable length of time after the mail out "so people have time to digest the information. It will make the meetings more meaningful," he noted.

Concerned, in part, that they might get ahead of themselves in negotiations, the Restructuring Committee agreed not to meet again until their amalgamation application had been acknowledged by the province, something not expected until late December, 1999, at the earliest.

20 MINUTES SILENCE
November 11, 1999
will be the last Remembrance Day of the 20th Century.

Living in Canada, it is easy to forget that this century has been the most violent period in human history. More than 1.4 million young Canadians have volunteered to serve in our military and merchant navy and more than 116,000 have given their lives.

As a special tribute, the Royal Canadian Legion is asking all Canadians to pause for 2 minutes at 11:00 a.m. on Remembrance Day. Radio and TV signals will stop, shops and schools, factories and farms will be still. The silence will sweep across Canada like a wave as the clock strikes 11:00 in each time zone.

Be part of it. Join co-workers, friends and family, and take two minutes to think about war, about peace, and about those who gave up everything for us.

Lindsay gets nod for provincial offenses court

MARTHA PERKINS

Editor

The following are brief reports of items discussed at the October 27 meeting of county council.

Having Lindsay as the administrative base of the area's provincial offences court services is the lesser of two evils, county council decided.

While still worried that giving Lindsay such a pivotal role may put the twice-monthly court days in Minden at risk, the alternative is having an even larger centre be given the responsibility.

"I don't know what else we can do," says Lutterworth Reeve Jim McMahon. "We've got to put our trust in Lindsay and hope we get our fair share" of cases held at the Minden court. "If we don't support Lindsay, there's a chance it will be handled out of Barrie and Peterborough."

Meanwhile, the increased police presence in the Highlands has resulted in a drop in provincial offences charges, said Minden Reeve Jeanne Anthon. This puts the county in a Catch 22 situation. Without many offences, it's hard to get the numbers to justify having the Minden court dates.

Deputy-clerk Shannon Hunter said there might be a positive spin-off with the transfer of all administrative services to Lindsay - Lindsay has to hire a prosecutor who could also handle municipal by-law fines.

Two new officers

Two new police officers will be hired at the Haliburton Highlands OPP detachment for the price of one.

Now that the county is paying for police services, it has more say in how those services are delivered. Taking advantage of a provincial subsidy which pays for half the costs, the county is going to hire two new constables. The funding lasts for five years, after which

THREE-TIME HONOUR:

When you walk into the county office in Minden, one of the first things you see is a plaque with the names of all the men and women who have been the county's wardens. Only one name is repeated three times in this past century - that of Dysart et al Reeve Murray Fearrey. At the county council meeting, the present-day warden, Glamorgan Reeve Elva Bates, presented Fearrey with a special plaque honouring such an achievement.

the county will have to pay the full cost.

The cost for a first class constable is $57,409 a year plus an average of $8,000 in over-time. Council hopes to hire third class constables, who start at a lower salary base. This brings the complement of constables to 24.

Hyland Crest

When the Ministry of Health provided funding for the expansion at Hyland Crest and Haliburton Hospital, one condition was that ownership of Hyland Crest be transferred from the county to Haliburton Highlands Health Services. However, the Municipal Act says that in order to retain its county status, Haliburton County must own a seniors home.

Up until now, it was assumed that as soon as the Act was changed removing this condition, the transfer would be made. But Dysart et al Reeve Murray Fearrey said "there have been some second thoughts." He said more information will be available by the next meeting for full discussion on the issue.

Health unit

With a projected surplus in its 1999 budget, the health unit may use that money to give staff salary increases next year, Monmouth Reeve Keith Tallman reported. Staff have not received raises for the past few years, and salaries at other health units have crept ahead, he said.

Meanwhile, the low-cost rabies clinics may be in jeopardy because vets do not want to support them. "It's a shame because I think it's very important," Tallman said, especially in light of the new strain of rabies in raccoons.

Clean lakes

Council supports the environment advisory committee's application for $7,800 in millennium funding to print a brochure on how to protect the quality of local lakes. The 28,000 brochures will be distributed widely.

County image

The Haliburton County Development Corporation is willing to contribute $5,000 towards hiring a consultant to come up with a logo and slogan for the Highlands. The project would likely cost $14,000 and while appreciative of the HCDC's offer, the county has not yet decided if and how it will contribute the remainder. The marketing committee still has $5,000 and there might be other funding sources. County councillors supported the project in principle.

Incinerator

Because of confusion over council's request for information, the environment advisory committee will now be asked to look into all types of incinerators and whether any are practical for the Highlands. Committee members and some county councillors are also considering a tour of other Ontario communities which have incinerators in use.

Up and coming blues singer to perform in Haliburton

by KERRY RILEY
Special to The Echo

He's young, he's talented, he's driven, he's caught the eye of several entertainment and music industry heavy-weights, and he's coming to Haliburton in November.

Increasingly compared to the legendary Stevie Ray Vaughan, straight-ahead Texas blues stylist Chris Chown will be performing, for one night only, at the Haliburton Legion on November 19 at 8:30 p.m.

The event, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Haliburton, as a fundraiser for the Haliburton Highlands Health Services Foundation, represents a unique opportunity for Haliburton music fans in general, and blues fans in particular, to witness a young star on the rise.

The 19-year-old Chown has already experienced some significant success on the Canadian blues scene. Since he began performing live at the tender age of 15, he has, according to a recent London Free Press article, been invited to open for such renowned Canadian blues artists as Colin James, Jeff Healey, and the Downchild Blues Band. During a performance a few years ago in Kingston, he caught the eye of Blues Brother (and aficionado) Dan Ackroyd, who stopped by to take in a set while in town for his own show.

"He left after the first set," says Chown, referring to Ackroyd. "Took off on his motorcycle and I thought he was gone for good," he chuckles. "But then he came roaring back with a whole crew in tow!" Chown was subsequently invited to perform with comedian Ackroyd, and guests, "The Tragically Hip," but scheduling logistics prevented it. More recently, Chown played to an audience of 3,000 at the Montreal Jazz Festival last August. "It was a great experience," he says, of his first appearance at the festival.

Chown remembers, as a kid, finding an old B.B. King LP while scrounging through his mother's record collection — and that was it, at age 11, he knew all he really wanted to do was play the blues. A neighbour gave him an electric guitar that had been sitting unused in a closet, his parents got him an amp, and he played for hours every day, without a single doubt about his goal. Eight years of focus and discipline have apparently paid off he's rapidly gaining respect amongst his blues elders, as a talented, solid and soulful performer, and as alluded to earlier, is increasingly invoking comparisons to Texas blues giant, the late Stevie Ray Vaughan.

He counts "all the Kings," (that's B.B., Albert and Freddie) as major influences, as well as Buddy Guy, Muddy Waters, Howlin Wolf and Guitar Slim "and lots of others." He tries to spend some time in Austin, Texas, every summer, to learn what he can from the local players.

"Nobody really famous," he says, "but they know what they're doing."

Chown's debut cd, Stompin' Grounds, is a collection of covers and original songs, released on Speakeasy Records, a small independent label out of London, Ontario. It has sold an impressive 2,000 or so copies to date. He and his band of two — Ryan Spong (the cousin of Haliburton chiropractor Rob Hill) on bass and Steve McNabb on drums — will be performing "a few songs" from the cd, at their Legion gig.

"I always do What's What," says Chown, "cause I wrote it myself." He'll be playing some of the other numbers as well, some covers, some originals, "but not always exactly as they were recorded."

When asked what advice he might offer aspiring teenage blues players in Haliburton, he's concise. "Practise and listen," he says. "Listening is almost as important as practising. Find someone who knows a lot about the blues, who can tell you who's good."

Nowadays, it seems more and more likely that he just might find his own name on that list.

Tickets to the November 19 concert are $20 each and are available from Rotarians, The Echo office, the Hill Chiropractic and Physiotherapy Clinic, the Foundation office (lower level of the Village Barn in Haliburton) or at the door (if the concert is not sold out.)

"I hate to see them forgotten..."

With this thought in mind, Haliburton resident Evelyn Gibson set about trying to collect photographs of all the young men from Maple Lake, Stanhope, who had served in World War II.

One of them was her brother, Vern Cowen, a sapper with the Royal Canadian Engineers. On July 8, 1944 he was on guard duty in France when he was killed by a sniper's bullet. This photo at left was taken a year earlier, when he was a vibrant 19-year-old. The day before he died, he wrote his sister a letter. In less than a month, he boasted, "I'm going to be a man." To him, that meant turning 21. But because of that bullet, he never got a chance to celebrate that special day -

far away in Caen, France. His parents were "Big Bill" Cowen and Vera McBrien.

Four other young men from Maple Lake never got a chance to celebrate special days with their families:

• Paratrooper George Swanton. "They killed them as they came down," says Mrs. Gibson, who was unable to find a photo of him

• Richard Dawson, the son of Milt Dawson and Berta McBrien. (He was Vern Cowen's cousin.) Richard was a member of the Black Watch and was machine gunned down, his body put in a mass grave. He later had a proper burial at Caen, France. In this photo, Richard, seated at left, is joined by his brother, Cliff Dawson, standing, and LaVern Sisson, seated right, while on leave in Glasgow. Both Cliff and LaVern made it home

• Mervin Harrison, the son of Norman Harrison and Velma Sawyer. He was 21 when he was killed in action on November 8, 1944

Luckily many of the young men who left Stanhope to join the war were able to return home. Mrs. Gibson was unable to find photos of some of them: Willard and Bob Barry, Maurice and Ray Cooper, Charles, Bill and Wallace Woodcock, Leslie Bain, Murray Maguire and Lyle Boice. However, if we turn the page, we see that she was able to find photos of...

• Jim Redner, the son of Tom Redner and Mary Hewitt. At the age of 25, he was killed by a land mine in England in April, 1942

Harry Cowen, son of John Cowen and Edna Stevens and Mrs. Gibson's first cousin

Dick Hewitt, son of John Hewitt and Clara Johnson and Mrs. Gibson's first husband

Moss Davis, son of Ben Davis and Ella Dummett

Bob Packard, son of Jim Packard and Elsie Griffin

Bill McBrien, son of Robert McBrien and Teresa Sisson and Mrs. Gibson's first cousin

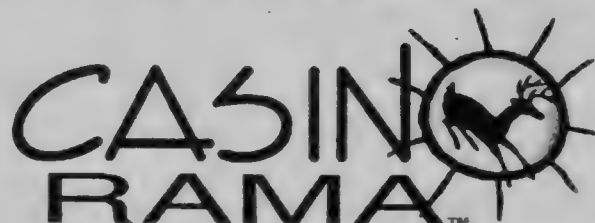

Russell Packard, son of Jim Packard and Elsie Griffin

.. and lest we forget World War I, Mrs. Gibson came across this photo of Arthur Oliver who served with the Canadian Armed Forces. A school teacher before he signed up, he was also a lay preacher and Stanhope reeve. When he was in England, he re-met and married Mary Oliver, bringing her home to Halls Lake after the war.

Then one day, desperate and broken, I cried out: "Jesus! Jesus!" I called his name. "Please come into my life and forgive me my sins." And he heard me! It was as though he reached down and took me to himself. That day I experienced the truth of Romans 10:13: "Whoever calls upon the name of the Lord shall be saved."

Repent to Jesus, today!

Silent remembrance to sweep across the country on November 11

A letter to Canadians on the last Remembrance Day of the century.

In just a few weeks we will turn the final page on a century and a millennium. It is only natural that we reflect on the past and look to the future. Living in Canada today, it is easy to forget that the 20th Century has been one of the most violent periods in human history.

From the World Wars in the first half of the century to NATO operations in the former Yugoslavia, more than 1.4-million Canadians have volunteered to serve in our military and merchant navy and more than 116,000 have given their lives. As the number of veterans and survivors gradually falls, it is up to all of us to make sure that their sacrifices are not forgotten.

This Remembrance Day will be a special one. On the 11th day of the 11th month, at 11 a.m., there will be silence. The Royal Canadian Legion and Veterans Affairs Canada are asking all Canadians simply to pause for two minutes. Radio and TV signals will stop, shops and businesses, factories and farms will be still. Canadians will be able to take a few minutes to think about war, about peace, and about those who gave up everything for us. The silence will begin in Newfoundland, and sweep across the country like a wave as 11 a.m. strikes in each time zone.

Silence is rare and dramatic in our noisy world, so the Wave of Silence will be an eloquent national event that will help us keep faith with our past and demonstrate our hope for peace in the new millennium.

I encourage all Canadians to take part, where safety and practicality allow. Wherever you are at 11 a.m. on November 11th, please pause in what you are doing for a couple of minutes. It will be two minutes well-spent, before the minutes of the millennium run out.

Chuck Murphy,
Dominion President,
Royal Canadian Legion

Remembering the last great bomber raid:

■ West Guilford native was a bomb aimer on an RAF Lancaster that saw action in the war's closing days

by BERNARD SISSON

I was a bomb aimer with the RAF #100 Squadron in the latter stage of World War II. The two raids I remember very vividly were on Nuremburg, March 15, 1945 and March 16, 1945, and Berchtesgaden, April 25, 1945.

The Nuremburg raid was the blackest day of the war for #100 Squadron with losses in excess of ten percent.

We arrived early and had to orbit the target and reenter the bomber stream.

Lancasters were going down all around us and several times we had near collisions with burning planes. We also had to fight off a JU88 and our gunners had an unconfirmed kill. We were also involved with an ME210, but suffered no damage and successfully returned to base.

At Berchtesgaden we were the third aircraft to bomb and made a direct hit on the S.S. Barracks with our (1) 4000 pound and six 1000 pound bombs. We encountered no fighters or flak but the following waves had big problems.

After the war I became very much involved in amateur hockey and was part of Haliburton teams playing for Ontario championships. In my fifties I started playing oldtimers hockey, and am still very active, twenty or more years later. In the early nineties, our oldtimers team has gone on Goodwill Tours of Europe for hockey and R & R. Our trips have taken us to such cities and countries as Rome, Venice, Varesi, Cortina, Val Gardena, Bolzano, Innsbruck, Salzburg, Vienna, Budapest, Slovenia, Prague, Malta, Tunisia, and Turkey.

In March, we were flying from Amsterdam to Salzburg prior to meeting the rest of our group in Innsbruck. Before landing in Salzburg we flew over the small village of Berchtesgaden. Very little appeared to have changed in the 54 years since our Lancasters dropped their bombs on April 25, 1945. The snow-capped mountains, the green valleys, the brilliant sunshine, blue sky, were the same, but, this time, there were no bursts of heavy flak and no enemy fighters to challenge. We landed safely and quietly in Salzburg, joined up with the rest of the group, and finished our trip by spending a week in southwest Turkey on the Mediterranean coast.

The operation on April 25, 1945 was the last heavy bomber raid in Europe. As peace was declared about two weeks later, World War II in Europe was now history. To have been part of it and to have survived, gives me a sense of accomplishment and pride - duty done.

In September of this year '99, the Allied Air Forces Reunion took place in Toronto. There were several of us from our squadron who were on this famous last raid. We raised our glasses in a toast to each other.

Bernard Sisson grew up in West Guilford and is now a seasonal resident.

NOVEMBER 11 • REMEMBRANCE DAY • BY EV STATA

The eleventh hour, the 11th hour of the 11th day.
The day the conflict ended, or so they say
The day the war was over at long last
And things could get back to where they were in the past.
What a glorious day that was, the day the battle ceased
And everyone said there'd be war no more, from now on only peace.
But we knew the fighting wasn't done
The battle o'er - the victory won;
For now came the hardest foe to beat
The battle to get back on Civvy Street;
To get back the job that was promised

you
That had been done by a girl since '42;
To forget the horrors of the war
The blood, the pain, the sweat, the gore,
The comrades who couldn't say good-bye
But lay with sightless eyes to the sky.
To forget your girl who wed your best friend
And officers who drove you round the bend.
To blot out the memories of booming guns,
And those awful nightmares of frantic runs.
To forget being lonesome and waiting for the mail

But remember Canadians fought and never turned tail;
Remember the wives who were faithful and true
Who waited those long fear-filled months for you;
Remember that job which made you rich

A whole lot better than digging that ditch.
Yes, now it's time to forget the past,
And with God's help we'll find peace at last,
For this, stand in silence, bow your head and pray;
On this the 11th month, 11th hour of the 11th day!

Stolen ATV found, four years later

OPP News

On October 24, Haliburton Highlands Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police received information that stolen property from Haliburton County had been located in Pickens County, Georgia USA.

On November 29, 1995, a 1989 red Suzuki ATV 4-wheeler was reported stolen from a residence shed in Glamorgan Township. That ATV had been stolen sometime during the previous two weeks.

It is unknown, at this time, how the ATV was transported to the USA or if the individual found in possession of the property had been directly involved.

Further investigation should be available next week.

Domestic Assault in Minden

On October 25, further to an altercation between a father and son, a 46-year-old Minden man was charged with assault. The male was charged after he is alleged to have pushed his 16-year-old son against the wall and proceeded to choke him.

The father was arrested, charged and released. No medical attention was required as a result of the incident.

Break, enter and thefts

The following break and enters have been reported to the OPP:

October 26, from a storage trailer at PineStone Resort. The incident had occurred sometime during the past few months. Stolen from the location were a 250 amp. Mastercraft arc welder, Mastercraft air gun and air ratchet.

October 30, on Concession 14, Dennison Island, Kawagama Lake, Havelock Township. A 1988 9.9 Evinrude motor had been stolen off the owner's boat sometime during the past six weeks.

O'Reilly re-elected as chair of Central Ontario caucus

MP John O'Reilly has been re-elected Chairman of the Central Ontario Caucus for the third straight year. O'Reilly was the co-founder of the caucus.

"It's an honour and a privilege that my colleagues are confident in the job that I have been doing. This caucus is very unique and so are the interests of the people in this region. This group explores and presents those ideas and differences to Ontario Caucus,"

MP John O'Reilly

he says.
 Every year the chairs of each caucus have to be elected from the members. Central Ontario reports every week to Ontario on Wednesday morning and, in turn, Ontario reports to National the same day.

"Constituents in this riding can rest assured that their concerns are being addressed each week. Their concerns and ideas help shape the policy that comes from the government," O'Reilly says.

Centre gets a exterior facelift community news —

wilberforce

Hilda Clark
443-2510

The exterior of the Lloyd Watson Centre is getting a facelift with new siding being installed. This new material which is considered very durable is almost the same colour as the original wood it is covering on most of the walls. The siding south wall, which has deteriorated drastically will be removed before the new is installed. Many positive comments have been heard about this improvement of the popular building.

The Craft Sale at the LWMC on Saturday was very well attended. People seemed pleased with the good variety of offerings which included many Christmas decorations and gifts, knitwear, jewellery, and baked goods. The sale of Linkert Christmas cakes at the Wilberforce Heritage Guild table was brisk and much appreciated.

The Monmouth Millennium Committee will host the Santa's Workshop Christmas Craft Sale on Saturday, December 4 from 9 to 3 at the Lloyd Watson Centre.

The last Rummage sale at St. Margaret's Church is over. All the remaining clothing is packed and gone. Not a bag or box in sight. Many thanks to Mrs. Sylvia Cameron. A.C.W. President Eileen Agnew and all the church women for their hard work and dedication in providing this valuable service of recycling over many years. The "mitten" tree is up at St. Margaret's Church already hanging with donated knitted socks, mitts, toques and sweaters. These will go off to agencies and individuals for Christmas gifts.

The Annual Hunting Season Turkey dinner at the Harcourt Hall was enjoyed by many on Saturday evening. There may have been some deer hunters present, but mostly diners were those of us who know where to "hunt" out a delicious meal!

Work on the Millennium "Local Lore" banner is progressing well. It has been assembled by Alfretta O'Rourke and quilting begins on it this week.

Everyone is looking forward to seeing the play "Love Letters" by A. R. Guernsey that we mentioned last week. Sponsored by the Loop Troupe and the Wilberforce Heritage Guild this benefit performance in aid of the publication of "Mustard Plasters and Hand Care" takes place on Friday, November 19, beginning at 7:30 p.m. at the Lloyd Watson Centre stage. Only $5.00 for this delightful evening presentation featuring Loop Troupe member Kim Barrett (Barnes) and Shawn Hagerman of the Highlands Little Theatre.

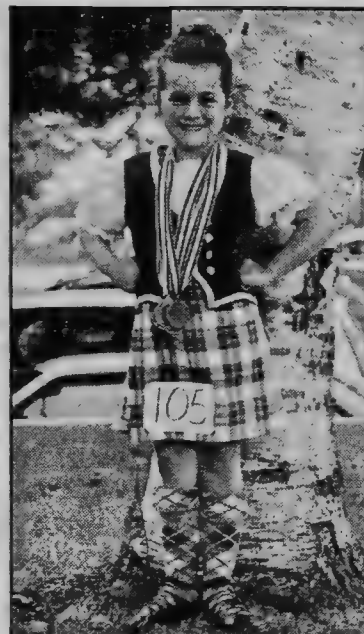

Kim Barrett is the reader representing the Wilberforce area at this years presentation of Dicken's Christmas Carol at St. George's Church Haliburton. It is on Friday December 3 and Sat. December 4. Kim reads on Friday Dec. 3.

We are pleased to hear that Hilary Klapow will attend the wedding of her sister Marilyn to Gilbert Carreiro on November 17. The ceremony takes place in Barbados. Best wishes to Marilyn and Gilbert.

THE SECOND GENERATION:

Two of the participants in a recent Highland Dancing Competition at the Dysart community centre were Alex and Devon Scardamaglia, who proudly display their two gold medals and two silver medals. The two sisters from Dundas, Ontario are the great nieces of Haliburton resident Ray Scott. As a child growing up in Scotland, their mother, Debra, can remember coming to Canada and dancing at the Haliburton carnival accompanied by piper Earl Cooper and the Haliburton pipes and drum band. Today she wants to pass on these special memories of Haliburton and feels dancing is a wonderful way for her daughters to retain a piece of their heritage.

Hyland Crest Scenic drive sets stage for a delicious Applefest celebration

We enjoyed our tea party on October 21 with St. Anthony's hosting, and we thank them for coming.

The last week of October began with a countryside drive to Fort Irwin via Harburn Road. It was a fun outing that was thoroughly enjoyed.

The birthday tea on the 28th was hosted by the Haliburton Legion. We thank them for providing such great goodies.

The last Friday of October was our "Applefest". A few of us made apple desserts in the morning, apple rolls by Edna Scott, apple pudding by Vera and Walter Stevens, fresh apple cake by Bessie Burke, apple dessert by Lillian Harrison, and, last but not least, apple crisp by Roy Nicholls. Roy stated that he has never baked before.

That afternoon, we gathered in the auditorium to enjoy all this wonderful baking. It was one of the best afternoons we have had in a long time and we send out thanks to those involved.

Saturday was spent getting ready for Hallowe'en. We put together 250 bags, ready for the occasion. The children arrived here on Hallowe'en night and delighted us with their costumes. We enjoyed their company and we know they enjoyed their treats.

A warm welcome to our newest resident, Irene

Stickland and we welcome back Ann Bibby to our nursing staff.

Happy birthday greetings go to Vera Barnhart who will be celebrating on November 14. Enjoy your day Vera.

Just hot off the press - Resident/Family Night, November 19, 7 p.m., Hyland Crest Auditorium. All families welcome. We'll tell you more about it next week.

Our activity staff recently attended a conference of the Activity Professionals of Ontario (APO) in Niagara Falls. The workshops were very informative. One of the topics was in-house newsletters. Two samples of our Hyland Crest news were shown. It seems we don't do too bad a job. They were also impressed with our weekly column and the fact that residents have a hand in both these activities. It's nice to get a pat on the back once in a while.

The Coboconk Lions Community Hall was the scene for the 4th Annual Music Night recently, with a "full house" in attendance. The Happy Wanderers and the Unicords provided lots of songs and music, as well as a number of local talented people.

There was no admission fee but an offering was taken, with funds going to the United Way. Some $900 was raised.

The United Way supports a number of organizations including Big Brothers and Sisters, Boys and Girls Club, St. Johns Ambulance, Community Care and others. All very worthy causes.

Sympathy goes out to the family of the late Ivy Boyce who passed away at Victoria Manor recently.

The Coboconk Library is open Tuesday, 4 - 8 p.m.; Wednesday, 11 - 3 p.m.; Friday, 10 - 1 p.m. Phone 454-1777 for information. The Norland Library is open Monday, 1 - 3 p.m.; Tuesday, 11 - 2 p.m.; Thursday, 4 - 8 p.m.; and Saturday, 11 - 3 p.m. The phone number there is 454-8552.

In the Seniors Quilt draw held on October 13, the winners are: first prize, quilt - Roy Richmond; second prize, $50 voucher - Sheri Henderson of Ajax; third prize, $10 - Judy Shepherd of Willowdale.

Winner of the side of beef in the Legion draw held September 4, was Roy Head of Coboconk.

A wedding dance was held at the Legion Hall here on Saturday night to celebrate the wedding of Joyce Hill and Lloyd Faulkner who were married in July. Richard Bradamore and his band supplied the music.

NEIGHBOURHOOD SPIRIT:

On Friday night, members of Lakeside Baptist Church's youth group, The Way, went door to door in Haliburton asking residents for donations to the 4Cs Christmas food drive. Here, Bernice Ross helps Jeff Bonham, Leanne Plouffe and Emily Rachar fill up their bags. The 4Cs provides hampers to dozens of families and donations of food or money are gratefully received.

Proposal to Sell Existing Crown Land Cottage Lots on 4 Lakes in Sherborne & Livingstone Townships

The Ministry of Natural Resources is proposing to amend its Bracebridge District Land Use Guidelines to enable the sale of existing Crown land cottage lots on 4 lakes in the municipality of the Townships of Sherborne, McClintock, Livingstone, Lawrence and Nightingale, in Haliburton County.

Large numbers of Crown land cottage lots were created in Ontario over many decades. In 1974, the Crown stopped selling cottage lots in southern Ontario (i.e. south of the French and Mattawa River systems), including any existing, unsold lots. In 1983, MNR's Bracebridge District Land Use Guidelines (DLUGs) incorporated the provincial direction by including a commitment that:

"authorization will not be granted, nor will disposition of Crown lands be considered for... seasonal residential, rural residential, or remote cottage development".

A policy change by the provincial government earlier this year now provides for consideration of the sale of existing Crown land cottage lots that are within registered plans of subdivision. The proposed amendment to the Bracebridge DLUGs would enable the sale of existing cottage lots in 8 Crown land plans of subdivision. These subdivisions were approved under the Planning Act between 1967 and 1970, but not all of the lots were sold before the Crown stopped selling lots in this part of the province. The plans of subdivision are located on:

- Clear Lake (just north of White Trout Bay of Kawagama Lake) in Sherborne Township;
- Crown Lake in Livingstone Township;
- Deer Lake in Sherborne Township; and
- Wolf Lake in Livingstone Township.

Only lots that can be developed without significant negative environmental impacts, and that can support a Class 4 sewage system are being considered for sale. Furthermore, any lots to be sold must conform to the municipality's zoning standards. Where necessary to meet these standards, existing lots would be merged, resulting in potentially 53 lots for sale on the 4 lakes. Lots would be sold at market value.

It is proposed that the Bracebridge DLUGs would be amended through the addition of the following wording:

"An exception would be to sell certain existing Crown land cottage lots on Clear Lake and Deer Lake in Sherborne Township, and Crown Lake and Wolf Lake in Livingstone Township, in Haliburton County."

If you wish to provide comments about this proposal, please provide them in writing by Monday December 6, 1999 to:

Juno award winning singer brings to blues to Rails' End Gallery on November 16

The Haliburton County Folk Society (HCFS) is busier than ever after an extremely successful summer season. With membership approaching 100 dedicated folk/roots music supporters, the HCFS has a full slate of activities for fall/winter 1999-2000.

After a standing-room-only April concert by string band legend Bob Bossin, the HCFS continued its popular 'Tuesday Night Concert Series' with an October 5 house concert by west coast songwriter and picker, Rick Bockner. In the intimate atmosphere of Haliburton's Twisted Pine Studio, Rick dazzled his audience with his intricate guitar licks and demonstrated his song writing prowess with influences including folk, blues, ragtime, Celtic fiddled tunes and early jazz. Currently touring in Europe, plans are underway to bring Bockner back in the summer of 2000 to teach song writing and finger-picking courses at the Haliburton School of Fine Arts. With any luck, we may be able to squeeze in a performance or two!

Next up is an exciting Haliburton performance by one of Canada's foremost interpreters of traditional roots and blues, Ken Hamm. Raised in Thunder Bay, Ken grew up listening to Leadbelly, Robert Johnson, Son House, Skip James, Willie Dixon and Big Bill Broonzy, and his musical career has taken him from coffee houses to concert halls and major festivals.

Hamm is a Juno Award winner and has been recognized by North America's 'Guitar Player' magazine and the Toronto Blue Society. He has won a wide following for his stellar guitar work (including a 1929 National Steel and a 1929 Gibson Flatop).

Ken Hamm brings his interpretation of the Delta Blues to Haliburton's Rails' End Gallery on Tuesday, November 16 at 7:30 p.m. Seating is limited. Tickets are $10 in advance and $12 at the door. For tickets and information, call 754-3773.

709 IN MEMORIAM

PRIPP, PENNY - In loving memory of a dear daughter, sister, sister-in-law and aunt who left us suddenly November 14, 1980.

Its so strange that those we need And those we love so much Are just the ones God called away And took them home to rest Your smile is gone forever, but We cherish our memories of you in our hearts.

Mom, brother Jack, sister-in-law Laurine, Tony and Sherry.

SANDERSON, DAN - Called home suddenly November 11, 1988.

So far away and yet so near So long ago and yet so clear The day that God called you home, Dan, we remember Always you are on our minds, Sometimes with smiles, sometimes with tears You are now with the Lord you love Some day we will meet you in Heaven above. Sadly missed by Mom, Dad and families.

Paddle into winter at Nov. 10 meeting

Trails & Tours Talk by BARRIE MARTIN

WITH WINTER on the horizon I have been thinking about canoeing. How about you? I am planning to attend the canoeing meeting being sponsored by the Haliburton Trails and Tours Network on Wednesday, Nov. 10, 7 pm at Club 35 in Halls Lake. This meeting was inspired by the interest of 35 or so people who met in August to share their thoughts and stories about canoeing in Haliburton County. They recognized that our waterways are a wonderful asset that needs some attention. Well maintained canoe routes will provide quality recreational experiences for residents and visitors to the county.

The meeting in November is for anyone interested in forming a canoeing association that will play a role in improving and maintaining the county's canoe routes. November is the perfect time to be thinking about the path of the paddle. Hope to see you there.

On the Trail with SSFC

Students in Sir Sandford Fleming College's Eco-tourism Management Program are focusing on trails and tours this year. Under the guidance of Al MacPherson their research and thesis work includes the following projects:

- Glebe Park Sculpture Trail Design and Plan
- Ken Reid Park Sculpture Trail Design and Plan
- Haliburton Village and Drag

River Historical Walking Tour

- Head Lake Loop Trail
- Snowdon Park Recreational Plan (Trails)
- Gelert Trail connection to Minden
- Minden Walking Trail extension

Eco-tourism conference

Students are also busy planning the 5th Annual Ecotourism/Adventure Tourism Conference being held in partnership with the Haliburton Highlands Trails and Tours Network, the Trails Tourism Development Project and the Frost Centre.

Residents of Haliburton are invited to attend along with other participants from far afield including a person from who is travelling all the way from Israel to participate.

In addition to the keynote speakers - John Snobelen, Minister of Natural Resources; Doug Murray, Tourism Officer and Trail Development Manager, PEI; John Bellini, Executive Director, Trans Canada Trail and Allan MacPherson, SSFC - there is a wide variety of topics.

A sampler: Recreation Trails on Crown Land, Liability and Insurance Issues, User Conflict on Multiple Use Trails, Construction of Interpretive Trails. For more information or to register visit www.flemingc.on.ca/news/ecotourConf.asp or contact Cathy Sloat at 705-457-1680, csloat@flemingc.on.ca

Thanks to Sir Sandford Fleming College for their huge contribution to trails and tours in Haliburton County!

Table Talk

There wasn't an empty seat around the table at HHTTN's second Board of Directors meeting on October 18. Things start to happen when 16 interested and interesting people get together. Some highlights:

- A "new" executive was elected - Vice-chair, Wendy Ladurantaye; Treasurer, Don Gage; Secretary, Graham Borgdorff and yours truly, Chair. We will serve until the first Annual General Meeting which will be held in April or May.

- The Network is working. For example, John Thompson of Haliburton County Horsemen's Association expressed an interest in upgrading the bridges on the rail trail to make them suitable for horse travel (horses don't like those gaps); Peter Overington of the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association suggested that they get together to talk about the possibilities.

- The HHTTN is writing a letter of support to include in the grant application for the Hawk Lake Log Chute Restoration Project (and trail).

- The Heart Connection wants to be partners in the production of series of brochures designed to promote trails and tours in the county. Their offer of support was enthusiastically embraced. Design and production of the brochures will be underway soon.

- Our next meeting is November 9, 7pm at the MNR office in Minden. All are invited to attend; delegations to the board are welcome.

- Momentum is building. It seems we will need more chairs at the next board meeting.

- If you want to know more about the Haliburton Highlands Trails and Tours Network visit www.trailsandtours.on.ca or contact Jan Thomas at 705-286-2410, info@trailsandtours.on.ca.
